

Gummlippe

The diagram illustrates the binding of a spiral notebook. At the top, there is a row of ten white rectangles representing the spiral rings. Below the rings, a large rectangular area represents the page block. A dashed red line traces a continuous zigzag path across the page block, starting from the bottom center and moving upwards and outwards towards the top corners, then turning back down towards the bottom corners, forming a spiral pattern that would wrap around the spiral rings if followed.

Rückseite